Cilantro Recalled for Possible Salmonella

At a Glance: Christopher Ranch LLC of Gilroy CA has issued a Class I Recall on fresh cilantro in 30-bunch and 60-bunch containers bearing the label Fresco Green Farms Inc. There are no date codes on the container – any customer with fresh cilantro in this package/label should discard immediately. The recall was issued after a random FDA sample was positive for Salmonella. No illnesses have been associated with consumption of this product

The Issue: Salmonella is a common food borne pathogen that can cause severe illnesses, including fever, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. While most cases are mild, very young, very old, and immunocompromized individuals can be more severely impacted.
